info_

the pussybats. roy rock (guitar), sid van sin (vocals, guitar), mike night (drums) and marple 8 (bass). Alternative rock. More precisely? Come on, anything is rock'n'roll somehow, isn't it? Shouldn't there be some emotion in everything? And aren't the most beautiful tales always the sad ones?

After listening to the debut album 'famous last songs', all those questions are obsolete anyway, you'll get drawn into the music without any chance to escape. That's the moment when you'll understand the album's title: Those are songs worth dying for! The four guys from Stuttgart have emancipated themselves from their influences - going from Johnny Cash to Placebo, the Backyard Babies and Motörhead - and finally found their very self, their own style and sound. Rock riffs, catchy melodies, emotion and melancholy melt into a soul-touching entity. Songs like a rollercoaster ride between a goodbye kiss and a kick in your ass. A voice that's gonna haunt your dreams. And last but not least, thrilling live shows packed with loads of blood, sweat, tears and entertainment.

Starting in 2006, they already managed to gain some attention and gather a constantly growing fanbase - but now they're off to hit it big time. It hasn't been easy since and the real challenges are yet to come. However, the flame still burns, the will to keep going is stronger than ever. The magic is on - so let the show begin!
